Description of Committees, Projects, and Leadership Activities 2007 – 2008

ADULT RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Meeting Date and Time Second Tuesday, 10:15 am

Purpose and/or Mission Statement

To provide UUTC members and friends with provocative, in-depth educational programming that expands and stretches the intellect and spirit of congregants, promotes the seven principles of Unitarian Universalism, and supports and helps to fulfill UUA's social and cultural initiatives.

Duties/Focus of Committee

Planning, scheduling, obtaining presenters, ordering materials, and executing educational classes throughout the year for UUTC adult members and friends.

Subcommittee Assignments None

Individual Assignments

- To remain informed of UUTC and provide guidance in decisions regarding adult religious educational opportunities
- To stay abreast of new and old UUA publications that may be available, such as books, curricula, and tapes, and to order same in advance of upcoming programs
- To offer programs that are congruent with topics pertinent to UU, i.e., spirituality, social justice, freedom, peacekeeping, the environment, and others.

Personal Interest/Skills Needed

An interest in and experience with delivering educational programs. Personal efforts to live in accordance with the seven UU principles and to bring this philosophy into the committee's programming.

Committee's greatest accomplishments

Series of classes in Building Your Own Theology, brown bag suppers and film showing regarding peace, the earth and earth oriented cultures and religions. Programs include summer offerings of small group discussion on PBS' Bill Moyers interviews entitled Faith and Reason, led by Peter Findlay. Fall sessions will include a series on environmentalism by Rebecca Booher and ongoing educational programming related to indigenous spirituality, led by Sarah Schade and the committee.

Joys of being on the committee

Each committee member is passionate about learning and study and each person applies their individual talents to the work of the committee for the benefit of all.
